SMALL Pox .- We understand that many exagerated rumors relative to the prevalence of small pox in Nashville are in circulation in the country. For by them, we state that there are at this time no by the reports to the contrary, put in circulation by interested parties, and kept a going by the igno rant and uninformed as to the truth.

The President presented a letter from Major A. Heiman, of this city, together with three valuable contributions, which are so admirably referred to in the letter that the Secretary prefers to insert it entire, instead of making a short reference to it:

NASHVILLE, June 1, 1857. A. W. PUTNAM, E-Q . President of the Historical Society of Tennessee: Dear Sir :- Being desirous of contributing to the Historical Society of Tennessee, such articles in my possession as may be of interest, I beg leave, through you, sir, to present to the Society the first and original work (in Italian) by Vignola, on the Five Orders of Architecture, (Regola delli cinque ordini D'Architectura di M Jacomo Barozzi da Vignola, Libro primo et originale,) to which Architects in all civilized countries have adhered to with so much tenacity. And let no man, great as his genius as an Architect may be, lay hands on their fair proportious-he will be sure to punish himself.

The parchment binding, the style of engravings, and lettering, speak for its antiquity. In the first part of the book, you will find a grant, written in Lutin, of Pope Pius IV., with the fac simile of his signature, giving to the author, on account of the merit of the work and his sterling worth as an Architect, the privilege of publishing this work in the Pope's dominions for ten years, for his sole benefit; a similar privilege was afterwards granted him by the Kings of France and Spain, the Senate of Venice and the Duke of Florence. Pius the Fourth was elected in 1559, and reigned only five years, therefore it is most likely that this grapt was given about 1560. Jacomo Barozzio de Viguela was a learned Architset. His family was originally from Bologna, and he was born in 1507, in Vignola, a smell town in the Marquisate of Vignola; he was much esteemed at Rome and in France, on account of his taste and capacity in the art of building and casting statuary. He died at Rome on the 7th of July, 1573, aged 66 years. Accordingly, this book must be about 300 years old. To the Rev. Father Schacht, I am indebted for translations of parts of this work, certi fying the originality and age of the same. In 1724, this book was given by M. Villeneuve to M. Hautchamoy. It was found among the books of my grand father, and must have come into the family about the middle of the last century. I had it in my possession ever since childhood-before I knew the value of any book, and with rude hands tore out | as a mower, the Kentucky Harvester coasenting. several engravings, one in particular I recollect; it was the Coloseum, and well do I remember the scolding I got for my trouble.

I also present a Shield, which belonged to a Chief of the Black-Feet Indians, for which I am greatly indebted to my friend, Capt. Thos. Claiborne, of the U.S. army, who brought it from Oregon. I part with it knowing that he will have no objections to the transfer. You will please to observe that the appendage and the three different covers, two of which are decorated with paintings, feathers, &c., are made of buck-skin, while the Shield itself is made of strong Buffalo hide, hard enough to turn a bullet. It is said that the chiefs of this tribe before adopting their insignia, starve themselves for several days, until they are thrown into a trance, then whatever dream or vision they have during that state is depicted on the shields. In this instance the warrior dreamed of holes in the ground with snakes in them, of a curious bird, and of a storm, all of which is painted on the shield. The repre sentation of the storm cannot be described, but must be seen to be appreciated. The small piece of root attached to one of the covers is said to be his medicine-root. How Capt. Claitorne came in possession of this shield and other particulars conpected with it, have escaped my memory.

I have also in my possession a letter of Alexan der von Humboldt, handed me at Potsdam, Prussia, on 8th April, 1834, a few days previous to my departure for the United States. He spose with en- | Flavorings to Produce at a Moment's Notice every thusiasm about the American continent, where, by his travels and researches, be laid the foundation of his early fame, and also of the kind feelings the people of the United States have evinced towards him, and hoped that time had not yet effaced the recollection of his name.

In all human probability in a few more years this truly great man will have ended his long and useful career, and the world will mourn the loss of one of its gretest savans, and his autopraph will be treasured in every country; for this reason, and by request, I cheerfully transmit this document to the Society, the success and prosperity of which is most earnestly desired by

Asthma, Bronchitis, Cooghs, Cohls, and General Debitity. The remedy was discovered by him when his only child, a daughter, was given up to die. He had heard much of the wonderful restorative and healing qualities of preparations made from the East India He-up, and the thought cocurred to him that he might make a remedy for his child. He studied hard and succeeded in realising his wishes. His child was cured, and is now alive and well. He has since administered the wonderful remedy to thousands of sufferers in all parts of the world, and he has never failed in making them completely healthy and happy. P. S.—There are persons who pretend to prepare ron saturbe "axtract of Cannabis Indica" from Dr. H. James' Recipe, and who profess to be his Agasts. All such persons are impostors. Dr. H. James' sole object is to benefit the world, and not to make money. He has no agends who precoare his medicines from the recipe, and never will have! The impostors common make up the medicines from the recipe so as to sell it at a profit, the cost of importing the East India Hemp alone being too great to recting the East India Hemp alone being too great to admit of a pecuniary speculation in the penusiae remedy. The imitations are probably compounded of molasses and a pernicious drug or two costing a few cents. may29-diwline.

EPPERSON SPRINGS

A RE LOCATED IN MACON COUNTY, TENNESSEE, on the waters of Trammel Creek, four miles East of the turnpike leading from Gallatin, Tenn., to Scottsville, Ky., and will be prepared for the recoption of visitors and invalids by the 15th day of May. This place has already acquired a reputation widely circulated for the highly medicinal character of its waters, (four different varieties.) and is now being visited by very many, living remetely, who go in search of a healthy and delightful summer retreat, not only the invalid, but the seekers after sleasure, healthy pastime and sport, there being within a short ride from the Springs a place where deer is frequently, seen and streams abounding in troot and other kines of fan, besides various wild animals and fowls, such as foxes, squirrels, rabbits, wild cats, wild turkies, pheasants, etc.

Dr. DeBow, one of the former proprietors, having purchased the entire interest in the Springs, has as consted with him his son William, well known to all who visited the Springs last summer. Having gone to considerable expense in re-atting and enlarging their means of accommodation, they flatter themselves that they will be able to add "ateially to the comfort of all who may favor them with a visit, having, during the past winter, not away about seventy thousand pounds of very fine ice. They have had built twelve additional bed-rooms, besides a large one 60 by 10 feet, latticed on each side to aford sir, is which the lowers

f pleasure and social enjoyment will find ample room for The medicinal character of the several Springs have been so often published, it is thought useises to do so now from the fact that Professor Sadord, our State Geologist, has been engaged in the examination of some of the waters and designs to complete the whole upon the premises during this same er, when the sum of his analysis will be given to the public to connection with this notice or embodied in a report made out by himself. It is considered only necessary to say that chrunic affections of any of the more important organs exhibit the efficacy of the waters, particularly these of females. In cases of diseased tiliner and bladder, cutaneous diseases, thingestion, dropsy, etc., they portant organs sublish the efficacy of the waters, particularly those of females. In cases of diseased kidney and braider, estanceous diseases, indigestion, dropsy, sie., they have, in many cases, acted like a charm, and in all have afforded relief. Ample testimony as to those facts could be afforded relief. Ample testimony as to those facts could be afforded frecessary.
